

Faculty Feedback Report Academic Session 2023-24

Introduction: The Faculty Feedback Report for the academic session 2019-20 at ITM Gwalior aims to highlight the experiences, observations, and suggestions provided by the faculty. The feedback plays a crucial role in understanding areas of improvement in teaching methodologies, curriculum development, infrastructure, and overall academic support.

- Curriculum Effectiveness: Faculty feedback indicated general satisfaction with the curriculum structure. Many faculty members appreciated the curriculum's alignment with industry needs, but they suggested periodic reviews to include emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence, big data, and renewable energy.
- Infrastructure and Classroom Facilities: While the faculty appreciated the available teaching resources, such as classrooms, labs, and libraries, there were suggestions for upgrades in specific areas. Some have suggested for more infrastructures in certain classrooms, such as projectors, seating, and modern teaching tools.
- Administrative Support and Workload Distribution: Majority have appreciated the administrative support and workload but some faculty members mentioned that administrative processes, including paperwork and approvals, were little time-consuming.
- Collaboration with Industry and Academia: The faculty reported positive engagement with students, noting that the majority of students were motivated and performed well academically. Faculty members suggested enhancing collaborations with industry and academic institutions to improve research output and provide students with better industry exposure.
- Technology and Digital Resources: Faculty appreciated the technology and digital support provide by the institute but some have suggested for improved access to more digital resources, including online journals, research databases, and teaching platforms.
- Recognition and Rewards System: Faculty has appreciated the recognition and reward given by institution but some have suggested that there should be more recognition and reward for their academic contributions, research publications, and innovative teaching practices.
